

Euro-HSP
Federation of European HSP Associations

Best Paper Award

Adolf-Struempell-Prize for HSP-Therapy

Donated by the Federation of European HSP Associations Euro-HSP in Cooperation with the Tom Wahlig Foundation

Scope:

The Adolf-Struempell-Prize aims to honor outstanding achievements in clinical research in the field of symptomatic and causal therapy of hereditary spastic paraplegia and related diseases.

The awarded prize amounts to EUR 2.500,-.

Criteria for Application:

- Applicants must be the first or last author of an article in a scientific journal referenced in Medline.
- The publication date is not more than 18 months ahead of the submission deadline or the paper is "in press" as confirmed by the editor of the journal.
- The submitted paper is in the field of symptomatic and causal therapy of hereditary spastic paraplegia and related diseases and contains analysis of human data.
- At the date of the submission deadline the applicant has not exceeded 40 years of age.
- Each applicant should not submit more than one application.
- The applicant has not applied for other awards for the same paper in the same period.

Each applicant confirms her/his willingness to present his/her work during the ceremony at the Tom Wahlig Symposium in Tübingen/Germany on December 2nd, 2022 – in the case she/he gets awarded.

Material Required for Application:

- The paper in electronic format (pdf).
- A short submission letter (max. 2 pages, 11pt font size) justifying why the work is within the scope of the prize and confirming willingness to present.
- A short curriculum vitae.
- Contact information (institute/clinic, e-mail, phone number).

Winner Definition:

Papers will be judged by a jury of international experts. The winner will be informed timely ahead of the symposium.

All materials must be submitted to Dr. Gerald Fischer (Scientific Advisor Euro-HSP, gerald.fischer@stopp-hsp.at) ahead of July 29, 2022 (extended deadline).